The Meaning of “History in Progress”

The City of Milton adopted the slogan “History in Progress” in 1999. The two themes represented in this slogan mirror the strengths of our City.

The City of Milton takes great pride in its past. Our rich history includes a documented link to the Underground Railroad, the lore and legacy of Milton College (1844-1982), a tradition of railroad traffic in the City, the beautiful churches which dot our landscape, and the widely-known and appreciated tourist opportunities in our area. Our most distinctive historical gem, the Milton House National Historic Landmark, is proudly featured on our city logo. Milton recognizes that today’s progress is what makes tomorrow’s history. The City uses its history to build its future as a significant community in south-central Wisconsin. Annual community social events bring thousands of visitors to Milton every year. Businesses find our City to be a great place of opportunity, and we are a growing industrial hub. The railroad has strengthened Milton’s economy since 1852 and continues to do so today.

Milton values and embraces its history as it progresses into the future.
